Silk Lingerie

Never before have we seen or even dreamed of such an array of lovely garments. The artist who created them must have drawn upon an imagination as colorful as a summer garden. Bits of lace and lengths of ribbon are twisted and turned and tucked a thousand different ways to make garments of delightful originality, of filmy softness, of ineffable charm.

The gown illustrated A is of georgette crepe and has a bodice top of rich lace. Flowered satin ribbons in basket weave hang from the lace both back and front and end in a graduated point just above the scalloped and beruffled bottom. Miniature blossoms add a touch of color to the bodice.

$35.75

tax $3.08

The pajamas illustrated B have a foundation of orchid satin which ends in five tiny ruffles of georgette just below each knee. The overslip is of pleated georgette with satin ribbon drawn beneath each pleat and tied at the sides. Tiny blue and scarlet rosebuds peek out at most unexpected places.

$39.75

tax $3.48

A Marguerite bloomer combination, illustrated C, has an underslip of orchid satin which ends at the knee with lace-edged points of georgette. The overslip is of flesh colored georgette bodiced with fine laces, tucks and embroidered inserts. There are loops and bows and shoulder pieces of picot edged ribbon.
